PRESIDENT OF THE COLLEGE

STANLEY HUBERT MARTIN

A.B., Quincy College; S.T.B., M.A., Ph.D., Boston University; D.D., Adrian College

The past seventy years have been significant and important years for Wesleyan College. During that time it has become one of the leading institutions of Christian higher education in America. Its contribution to the community at large has been outstanding, and its graduates are to be found in every professional field. We are proud of the service rendered to church and society by our graduates, and we feel that those who join the ranks of alumni will take their places with the best who have gone before. For those of us who remain on campus, let our high resolve be "to be and serve the best."

Stanley Martin

FOREWORD

Since the subject matter of past editions of the MURMURMONTIS has rather closely followed the confines of the campus, the staff of the 1961 yearbook has produced a publication which pays a long over-due tribute to the community and surrounding area. Too often college and community have been considered as two separate and unrelated entities.

The purpose, therefore, of the 1961 MURMURMONTIS is to show that West Virginia Wesleyan College and Buckhannon are one unit, serving as necessary complements, each to the continued success of the other. The sign posts on highways entering the town which read, "Buckhannon—Home of West Virginia Wesleyan College," say more than this combination of words appears to say at first glance. The signs imply a distinct "college-town" quality about Buckhannon. On the other hand, the fact that the home of the college is the town indicates that there is a happy union between local manners of life and college practices which have developed since the inception of the West Virginia Conference Seminary in 1890.

Thus, the MURMURMONTIS staff, realizing the importance of the town and college to each other, presents its 1961 edition in an effort to preserve the most important people and events of the school in their setting amidst the "murmuring mountains."

DEDICATED TO . . .

DR. LEWIS H. CHRISMAN

For forty years the basic rules of grammar, the works of Emerson and Thoreau, the soliloquy of Hamlet, and any other phrase expressing either literature or grammar have been the inheritances of those students who have attended the classes of Dr. Lewis Herbert Chrisman.

In addition to his teaching duties Dr. Chrisman is a prominent writer and lecturer. Among his published works are John Ruskin, Preacher, and Other Essays; The English of the Pulpit; The Message of the American Pulpit; and Ten Minute Sermons. Since 1933 Dr. Chrisman has been a member of the staff of the Methodist Publishing House and has jointly edited Selections from Speeches of Abraham Lincoln.

During the spring term of 1960, Dr. Chrisman conducted his last class at Wesleyan. The student body showed their admiration for his talent and accomplishment with an enrollment in the class of 143 students.

So, the 1961 MURMURMONTIS is dedicated to Dr. Lewis H. Chrisman, an inspired teacher who has given most of his life to the advancement of learning and culture through literature at West Virginia Wesleyan College.

With Very Best Wishes,
Lewis H. Chrisman

WEST VIRGINIA WESLEYAN COLLEGE, A METHODIST-RELATED INSTITUTION OF HIGHER LEARNING, IS LOCATED AT BUCKHANNON, WHERE, THROUGH THE YEARS, COLLEGE AND TOWN HAVE BECOME INSEPARABLY INTEGRATED.

College Town, U. S. A.—Buckhannon, West Virginia, the home of West Virginia Wesleyan College, is a typical college town with the usual obvious relationships between institution and city. Yet, are these relationships so obvious? The college student in the local soda fountain, the bewildered college student looking for the best clothing store, the 10:30 Sunday morning procession to church street are the more readily seen elements in the relationships between young scholars, their institution, and the town which houses both.

Entirely too often are the close kinship and even dependency of educational, cultural, economic, and religious ties of a college to its home town completely forgotten and overlooked in their everyday associations. The avowed purpose of a college such as Wesleyan is the education of those who seek learning within its walls. However, education extends beyond the walls and into the community. Student teachers gaining their first real experience as schoolmarms have as their laboratories the classrooms of the public schools in Buckhannon. Educational leaders use the college as headquarters for many local and regional meetings. The college library provides a practically unlimited source book for the entire community, town as well as campus. A college-operated kindergarten relieves an over-crowded one operated by the public school system. In addition to these special educational reciprocals, the college itself stands as a symbol of the furtherance of education in the surrounding area.

Aside from the formalistic educational concept, West Virginia Wesleyan is a center of culture for local citizens and college students alike. High-calibre programs such as Community Concert Series and special features in the cultural enrichment program are made possible through the joint efforts of both college and townspeople. The American Association of University Women is but one example of a local civic organization that centers its activities about the college.

Many students while at Wesleyan become truly an integral part of the community. Likewise, during four years of building floats in the old garage on the corner, borrowing trucks for hayrides, visiting faculty homes, and hauling strips for any worthy carpentering enterprise from the lumber mill behind McCuskey Hall, Buckhannon becomes a treasured part and often the lifelong home of its "naturalized" citizens—the students of West Virginia Wesleyan College.

By the mountains- -near the river
Murmuring lowly, murmuring ever- -

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The chief legislative body for the school, the Board of Trustees, guided the college during one of the most decisive and active years of its existence. The board, composed of prominent clergy and laymen of the Methodist Church, approved final plans for a new student center while construction of the new men's dormitory progressed under their watchful eyes.

The Methodist Memorial Room in the library was the scene of the regular bi-annual meetings held at Founder's Day and graduation. The approval of the annual budget of the college and review of the general operational policy of the institution as a whole occupied the board as it continued its primary function of raising the standard of Wesleyan as an institution of higher learning.

The president of the Board, Dr. Myron B. Hymes, prominent Buckhannon attorney, dedicated much time from his already busy schedule to help formulate and guide the best interests of his Alma Mater. Dr. Hymes served as secretary of the Board of Trustees for a number of years before assuming his present vital position in the organization of the college.

DR. MYRON B. HYMES, President

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

Good luck!
Orlo Strunk

ORLO STRUNK

A.B., West Virginia Wesleyan College; S.T.B.,
Ph.D., Boston University.

As Dean of the college, it is the responsibility of Dr. Orlo Strunk to supervise the educational program of Wesleyan. He aids with the selection of faculty personnel, and also is the chief disciplinary officer of the college. Another duty of the Academic Dean is to assist with the editing of the West Virginia Wesleyan College Bulletin and other academic publications.

In addition to his work which is directly concerned with the college, Dean Strunk has been appointed Associate of the Leadership Training Project of the North Central Association for this year. He also is the President-elect of the West Virginia Association of Academic Deans for 1961.

A special interest of Dean Strunk is writing. He published his first book in 1959, and is presently working on a second book, to be entitled, Religion: A Psychological Orientation. Most of the fifteen articles he published in 1960 were in the fields of education, psychology and religion. He was particularly pleased by having had three short stories accepted for publication—including, "The Day Mr. Harper Began to Die," published by Artesian, a literary magazine of the University of Michigan.

LEONARD W. BUCKLIN

VICE PRESIDENT

Serving his first year as vice president of Wesleyan College, Mr. Leonard W. Bucklin has been busy supervising the expansion program of the college. Mr. Bucklin, an attorney from Sanford, Maine, filled the vacancy opened when James I. Ling retired last July. Active in political, civic, and service activities of his home community, Mr. Bucklin has been an active participant in the college and in the community.

Two expansion projects with which Mr. Bucklin is concerned are the proposed science hall and gymnasium. This two and one-half million dollar project is scheduled for immediate execution.

TREASURER

Operating the college in an efficient manner calls for successful management of finances. It is the job of Mr. Heyward A. Williams and his assistants to collect the student fees for tuition, room, and board, as well as other registrational fees. Also important is the allocation and distribution of the college yearly income. As the plans for further development and expansion of Wesleyan are carried out, the position of treasurer ever increases in importance.

During the past year the treasurer's office has been able to replace much of its manual work with time-saving machines; however, Mr. Williams is still the man to see when a purchase order is needed.

HEYWARD A. WILLIAMS

ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT

As assistant to President Martin, Mr. James Stansbury is in charge of coordinating all the activities of Wesleyan; guiding the college with regard to policies and facilities; scheduling summer and special conferences, official occasions, and special tours. Added to these duties is his primary one—carrying out responsibilities delegated under the President of the College.

Mr. Stansbury serves as a member of the Administration Committee and as an advisor to Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity. In the community, Mr. Stansbury is the president of the Central Grade School P.T.A. For the past three years he has been active in the Upshur County Red Cross, in which he has held the offices of president and director. These activities indicate that Mr. Stansbury is an active participant in both Wesleyan and its surrounding community.

JAMES STANSBURY

WALTER R. COLLINS

DIRECTOR OF ALUMNI AFFAIRS

In his capacity as the new Director of Alumni Affairs, Mr. Walter R. Collins finds it his job to maintain alumni records and to head the organization and cultivation of alumni chapters. Editing the Sundial and organizing the annual alumni appeal are also duties of his position. Reunions and alumni Homecoming activities are promoted by Mr. Collins.

Mr. Collins, after teaching for a time in the public schools, returned to his alma mater to assume the position of Publications Director. This past summer he was married to the former Irma Helen Hopkins, associate professor of music.

REGISTRAR

Registering students, maintaining permanent records, scheduling examinations, preparing transcripts, writing some catalogue copy, teaching in the Business Department—these are just some of the duties of Mr. Patton Nickell, as Registrar of Wesleyan. Mr. Nickell worked in the admissions office during his undergraduate years at Wesleyan before assuming the position as registrar. This past summer he earned his master of science degree at Marshall College.

Under the direction of Mr. Nickell a new system of registration was initiated in June of 1960. This Keysort System speeds up the process of registration, reporting of grades, and computation of statistics. It has proved to be a much more efficient system than the previous one—a necessary improvement as registration increases.

DEAN OF STUDENTS

The duties of Mr. Richard Cunningham, Dean of Students, are many and varied. Serving the needs of the college students is his primary activity. Mr. Cunningham guides Wesleyan in such areas as student housing, extracurricular and social activities, and student aid. Operation of the Student Personnel Center is under his direction. Mr. Cunningham is also responsible for the conduct and the social modes of the student body. He serves on the Administrative and Conduct Committees and is a non-voting member of the Community Council.

Much of Mr. Cunningham's free time is spent in his position of province director for Sigma Chi Fraternity. During the past summer the Dean of Students attended classes to be applied toward his doctorate at West Virginia University.

Mr. William B. Hicks, Jr. Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, is responsible for the maintenance, operation, protection, and security of the college plant and property belonging to the college. He supervises the operation of the Service Center, food service, and all other auxiliary enterprises of the college. While new buildings are being constructed, Mr. Hicks serves as a contact between the architect and the contractors.

Mr. Hicks graduated from Wesleyan in the class of 1939. When he has a chance to slip away from official duties, he spends his free time at his camp beside the Buckhannon River.

SUPERINTENDENT OF BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

WILLIAM B. HICKS

Selecting Wesleyan's new students each year and processing their applications for admissions is the main responsibility of Mr. Raymond Kiser, Director of Admissions. With the help of his office staff, information about Wesleyan is sent to students throughout the eastern United States. His office keeps in constant contact with ministers, alumni, friends of the college and other "key people" who talk with prospective students about the opportunities at Wesleyan. His office welcomes inquiries, and each request is promptly handled.

He is assisted in his work by Mrs. Thelma King Kessler, assistant director of admissions.

DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS

RAYMOND KISER

NELLIE WILSON

DEAN OF WOMEN

Miss Nellie G. Wilson, in her capacity as Dean of Women, has as her main goal that of cooperating with the administration to promote the objectives of Wesleyan. This she accomplishes by her guidance in the areas of women's housing, student aid, orientation program for freshmen, counseling and conduct. Under her supervision the Women's House Governing Board is able to operate efficiently.

In the surrounding community of Buckhannon Miss Wilson is active in both the Woman's Club and in the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

DEAN OF MEN

Between coaching students in the latest interpretation of a fine point in Robert's Rules of Order and quelling party raids on the women's dorms, Dean of Men John D. Shaver is one of the more versatile personalities on Wesleyan's campus. Letters written to students informing them they are overcut in class or chapel attendance are signed by Mr. Shaver in his position as coordinator of the attendance committee.

JOHN SHAVER

PUBLICITY DIRECTOR

The principal duty of the director of publicity is to keep the public informed about Wesleyan. This is done through the release of information, articles, pictures, and moving pictures to newspapers, magazines, periodicals, radio and television stations.

Creel S. Cornwell started these chores at Wesleyan the day before Groundhog Day, 1960. It was his first venture into the publicity field after 21 years of work on eight newspapers ranging in size from the Wetzel Republican to the Baltimore Evening Sun. After a fare of covering murders, births of two-headed calves, personals such as Aunt Fanny's visit to the Big Town, highway homicide and suicide, and those temples of double talk—city hall and the courthouse—he finds working here a bit of a change in pace. He would settle for an understanding typewriter that could spell, and the scalp of the guy who invented the memo.

DIVISION OF ART AND MUSIC

Objectives of the Division of Art and Music embrace the cultivation and enrichment of the students' insight into the cultural heritage of the ages, increases enjoyment and usefulness in interpreting and expressing the individual's experience effectively, and the development of vocational aptitudes within the scope of the division. Chairman of Division I is Dr. C. Buell Agey.

The 1960 touring choir, directed by Mrs. Walter Collins, presented several selections from its repertoire in a television performance in the early fall. The Wesleyan choir and orchestra combined talents in the presentation of Bach's Christmas Oratorio. Early spring found the choir on their annual multi-state tour and music majors presenting their senior recital.

Monthly exhibits of contemporary works are presented by the art department. Senior exhibits are displayed in the spring. Scenery for campus productions and other activities is designed and built by students in the art department.

Mr. George Keester exerted considerable influence in the establishment of the national art honorary on Wesleyan's campus.

Dr. Agey devotes much time to the revision of old German manuscripts and has had several of these published.

Orval J. Anderson, Associate Professor of English is chairman of the Division of Languages and Literature. This division strives to cultivate the student's appreciation of his cultural heritage, to deepen his insight of it and to enable the student to effectively interpret and express his feelings and experiences.

Wesleyan's own "book of the month club" was initiated in October with Miss Jane Schnabel's review of "Elmer Gantry." This year the division sponsored the Stratford Canadian players in repertory presentations of G. B. Shaw's Saint Joan and Shakespeare's Julius Caesar.

A student bus excursion to Pittsburgh sponsored by the division enjoyed performances of "Dark at the Top of the Stairs" and "Raisin in the Sun."

Providing students with adequate preprofessional training, preparation for industrial occupations, and an understanding of the practical and cultural values of the natural sciences and mathematics constitutes the major aim of the Division of Science and Mathematics. Dr. John C. Wright, professor of chemistry, is division chairman.

During the year Professor William Hallam and Mr. Stephen Tobey visited West Virginia high schools as representatives of the West Virginia Academy of Science's Visiting Scientist.

Undergraduate research concerning the mechanics of chemical reactions in sugar, sponsored by the National Science Foundation involved two senior chemistry majors.

Mr. Stephen Tobey held two research grants and results of his grant from the Research Corporation appeared in The Journal of the American Chemical Society. A probe into the workings of enzymes was conducted with a grant from the National Institute of Health.

During the summer, Wesleyan conducted an Institute for Junior High School Science Teachers and an Institute for Outstanding High School Students. Several members of the division participated in the programs sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

DIVISION OF

The principal objectives of the Division of Social Sciences are: the development and socialization of the student through increased understanding and appreciation of the social structure, the development of citizens and their desire for a better social order, and vocational and professional training for those preparing to teach or enter business.

Dr. Robert C. Bowles had an article depicting the activities of the Utopian Socialist, Charles Fourier, during and after the French Revolution published in the "French Historical Studies."

Mr. Stephen J. Thomsen, Wesleyan's newest psychology professor, was instrumental in the establishment of the psychology club.

All formal testing has been under the direction of Dr. Florence Schaper, professor of sociology. Dr. Schaper also coordinates the college placement service.

A personal counseling service is conducted by Mr. Herbert Buhler.

DIVISION OF

A wide assortment of courses in applied and vocational areas of business is offered by the Division of Arts and Sciences to prepare students for professional work after college and for graduate study. Chairman of the division is Professor David Reemsnyder.

An extensive intramural program was conducted by the physical education department in sports appropriate to the seasons. Professor Reemsnyder was kept busy in the gymnasium with his duties as athletic director and supervisor of men's intramurals. Sorority and independent women competed in hockey, volleyball, and basketball intramurals under the guidance of Mrs. Helene Martin, while Miss Jannie Davis served as advisor to the Bobcat cheering squad.

Coach Sam Ross' duties began early with football practices in August while most faculty members were vacationing. Freshman basketball and trampoline practicing also received the helpful guidance of Coach Ross.

Basketball and baseball seasons gave Coach "Hank" Ellis a full and busy schedule in addition to his regular class schedule and the bringing up of his new son for future Wesleyan teams.

To keep pace with Wesleyan's growing student body, the library science department was also increased. Mr. Leon Herndon and Miss Margaret Tilley were welcome cohorts for Miss Crouch and Miss Stockert. A browsing area containing books of general interest in all fields and an increased periodical section were added to the library along with extended hours.

Mrs. Margaret Walls joined Mrs. Esther McAllester in the home economics department. Mrs. Walls received her master's degree for her research on the divorce rate of Wesleyan graduates.

A college sponsored kindergarten under the guidance of Miss Helen Stealey was the big addition to the education department, along with several new courses offered with Mr. Ralph Shattuck.

Mr. Robert Wallace, local attorney, provided first hand information for the business law course.

DIVISION OF BIBLE, RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY

An introduction to a view of the world and of man that integrates the findings and methods of science and philosophy with the essentials of Christianity and vocational preparation for students in this field are provided by the Division of Bible, Religion and Philosophy. Dr. Jose Franquiz, professor of philosophy, is chairman of Division V.

Dr. Howard M. Teeple, associate professor of religion, completed work on tracing the variants of the texts of the Bible. Using photostats of the original early copies of the Bible, he traced the changes which had taken place through the centuries.

Throughout the year, Dr. Jose Franquiz presented papers at several philosophical meetings. He also coordinated the political panel presentation preceding the national election. Largely through his efforts Pi Epsilon Theta, the national philosophical fraternity, was reorganized.

In addition to his duties as an instructor in Religious Education, Mr. Sidney Davis as Chaplain is responsible for the planning and presentation of weekly chapel services.

Faculty members must sit through lectures also.

Opinion seems to be divided as to whether to watch the camera or the waterfall.

Charter members of The Torch and Tassel have their organization meeting with Dean Cunningham

THE CLASSES at Wesleyan, though practically inseparable by any divisions of seniority as upper and lower classmen, worked together both through voluntary and supervised means. The freshmen assumed the responsibility for the festivities of Christmas Week. Immediately following Christmas vacation, the frosh took their standardized English test.

The campus Daisy Maes and L'il Abners turned out in full regalia for the sophomore-sponsored Sadie Hawkins Dance after all eligible males had been "hogtied." Junior and senior men who met the requirements were tapped to organize The Torch and Tassel Society, men's leadership honorary fraternity.

Country style is the proper way at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Freshmen try to remember those twelve parts of speech.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL CAMPUS GOVERNMENT

COMMUNITY COUNCIL PRESIDENT
John Hodge

Recognizing the need for an inclusive and efficient form of college government, and devoted to the democratic possibilities of a community government, the Community Council carried out its responsibilities. The basic responsibility of the council was to effect a harmonious policy among students, faculty, and administration for the general advancement of the school.

During the year, the council submitted the proposal to the Administration that a "stop day" between the end of classes and the beginning of final examinations. The Administration voted to institute the new measure at the beginning of the 1961-62 term. Other items of major campus concern which the council asked the Administrative Committee to consider included a semester break of one week, and the tri-semester and quarter systems of academic organization.

HOUSE GOVERNING BOARDS

The three house governing boards are an integral part of Wesleyan's dormitory life. Elected by the residents of their respective halls, the members provide dormitory parties, conduct activities, and work out solutions to the universal problems of college living.

Matters of student conduct are dealt with by the boards.

In carrying out their responsibilities, these groups attend to many matters that would otherwise go unnoticed.

The presidents and their respective groups are: Margo Brookover, Women's House Governing Association; Bruce Ennis, Fleming Hall House Board; and Carl Fitz, McCuskey Hall House Board.

COMMITTEES

Added booths and ping-pong: SCOW mixers and television—these and many others were included in the activities planned and executed by the Student Center Committee of the student government, headed by Dave Damaska. Anticipating the time when the new SCOW will be a reality, the committee planned all its purchases and activities with the new facilities in mind. Operating a sizable financial enterprise, the committee fulfilled its obligation to the campus.

The successful coordination of social events and the compilation of the campus social calendar are the main duties of the Social Activities Committee. Committee chairman Joan Hardy and her helpers meet each semester with the social chairmen of the campus organizations to correlate their activities with those of the school.

The intricate planning and organization which are the basis for the big social weekends of Wesleyan's campus provided the main work for the Special Activities Committee. The committee, under the chairmanship of junior council member Brooks Jones, began to work during the summer laying plans for Homecoming 1960. Chairmen were appointed to cover the dance, parade, judges, and coronation. By this new method of coordination the committee was able to stage the successful autumn event.

The other big all-campus affair which was under the jurisdiction of the committee, was May Day weekend. It became the duty of the committee to plan the annual May Day Sing, the picnic, and the climax of the weekend, the May Day Dance.

COMMITTEES

The problem of coordinating two student publications, PHAROS and MURMURMONTIS, with each other, with school policy, and with efficient organizational practices fell to the Publications Committee of the Community Council. The Committee became the group to which dissatisfaction and praise of the student publications were directed. The new advisor to publications, Mrs. Sandra Leckie, worked with the committee in performing their tasks. Jane Reemsnyder was the Council member who chaired the committee.

The main function of the Awards Committee was to establish criteria for the campus and departmental awards. The Awards Assembly in May was planned by the committee at which time the awards in such fields as scholarship, leadership, athletics, publications, and other areas were presented. Chairman of the committee was council member Richard Longbon.

Community Council representative Joe Lore served as chairman of the intramurals committee of the student government. Between scheduling and coordinating intramurals schedules among Greeks and independents and planning an overall intramural sports program with the director of athletics, the committee found their job to be one of the most important with regard to the extra-curricular life of the campus. Their main concerns were touch football, volleyball, basketball, and softball.

Student government ranged from volleyball to cars, and the excess of cars on the Wesleyan campus was the concern of the traffic committee. Committee chairman Kent Carpenter guided the committee as they wrote traffic violation tickets, and enforced their rules through fines imposed upon offenders in weekly meetings of the committee sitting as a traffic court for the campus.

Under the leadership of sophomore Community Council member, Harry Campbell, the World University Service Council sponsored a campaign for funds with which to carry out their obligation to the American National Committee of the World University Service. WUS is an international agency with an operating program of material assistance in the field of education to aid the world university community. The local committee conducted a fund-raising campaign during March, receiving about $400 as their contribution. The main activities during WUS Week were the all-school auction and the campus carnival.

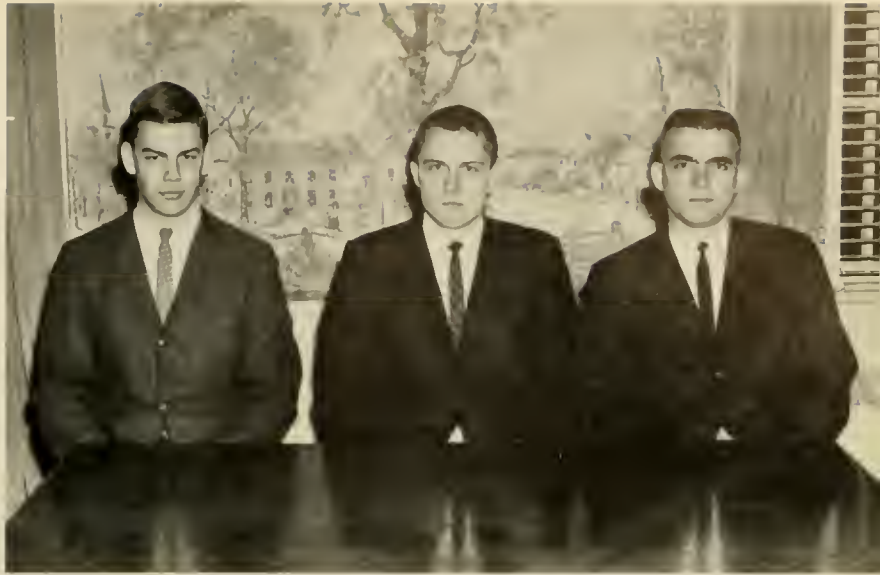

The Academic Affairs Committee of the Council was new this year, resulting from the merging of the Educational Affairs and Cultural Enrichment Committees. Under the chairmanship of Council member Jean Beatty, the committee investigated items of campus-wide concern in the realm of matters of curriculum, administrative problems, cultural enrichment programs, and other academic affairs.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS: D. Thomas, D. Stewert, J. Beatty.
UNPICTURED: W. McTaggart.

COMMITTEES

ALL CAMPUS JUDICIARY: R. Bolyard, J. Hanson, A. Snyder.

For the first time this year, the All-Campus Judiciary was a disciplinary group replacing the old conduct committee of the Community Council. The judiciary was organized with the basic goal of a fairer degree of punishment for those whose cases were referred to it. As the result of the new procedure only more serious cases were referred to the court, the less serious offences being settled at lower levels of authority.

Coordinating the numerous religious organizations and activities of the campus was the Religious Life Council. Drawing students from as many religious denominations and faiths on the campus as possible, the council attempted, under the direction of Rev. Davis, to achieve a satisfactory medium for all religious groups.

MURMURMONTIS—

The little office with the double doors in the SCOW over which is printed in rather spastic manner "Fools rush in—angels fear to tread," was the literal home of the people who were responsible for the 1961 MURMURMONTIS. The editors and staff of the yearbook were certainly a distance from wings and halos; however, the fools became rather numerous on deadline nights at 3:00 a. m.

The staff, however, finally completed its assigned task and the final copy shipment was mailed to the publisher on February 23. The able volunteer labor of many students and the devoted attention of photographer Howard Hiner combined to make the 1961 MURMURMONTIS Wesleyan's "book of the year."

NEW HEADQUARTERS;
ORGANIZATION PLAN
SPARK PHAROS STAFF

From the crowded facilities of the original publications office with one long work table shared with the MURMURMONTIS, the PHAROS, at the beginning of the 1960-61 term moved into separate quarters in the student center. The search began for furnishings for the new office. Desks and tables were located and moved in. New office supplies and typewriters were requisitioned from the school.

To add a homey touch to the new office, drapes were purchased for the windows and some old booths from the SCOW were included for the comfort of the staff members. An extension of telephone extension 33 completed the transition.

Major reorganization of the business activities of the paper by Business Manager, Robert Smith, set the publication on a sound financial basis. An expanded advertising program including business from national concerns was the main element.

Shipwreck, yachting, and driving hot-rods across a meadow have all been part of the experience which helps to qualify Robert Fuller for the position of editor of the PHAROS.

"Rob" began his college career at Tufts University, transferring to Wesleyan at the end of his freshman year. During his first year at his new Alma Mater, Rob served as reporter for the PHAROS under the pseudonym of "Boswell LaFarge."

The following year he was appointed as co-managing editor of the Wesleyan publication.

In the spring of 1960, Rob was appointed to assume full responsibility for the paper. Since that time, he has been striving to build concern for campus as well as extra-campus problems in the members of the student body of Wesleyan.

Pharos Workers Inform Campus

The old newspaperman's advice to "read the classified section," has become practically a must for all well-informed members of the Wesleyan campus. One of the recent innovations of the PHAROS is the publishing of all campus announcements in the Classified Ads section of the paper.

This is but one of the steps taken by the campus reporters to keep their readers interested and well-informed. In order that a closer relationship between student government and the student body might be established, a special reporter was appointed to cover the activities of the weekly meeting of the Community Council. Letters to the editor expressing student opinion have been encouraged. Even notices of lost crew-neck sweaters and broken-hearted wives have been published in an effort to better serve the students.

The reporters who are responsible for gathering this material meet every Thursday evening for their deadlines to pool their facts, opinions, and literary talent in both original and second-hand re-writing. The PHAROS staff, under the leadership of Editor Fuller and Managing Editor Canterbury includes as features editor, Janice Cline; sports editor, Bill McTaggart; news editor, Tony Barbetta; business manager, Robert Smith; photographer, Mike Sullivan; Advertising manager, Carol Mosher; stenographer, Ruth Wilson. Staff reporters include Lowe, McLardy, Mason, Seals, Arena, Arnold, Hart, Webber, Fox, Ancrile, Parsons.

Active in stimulating dramatic activities on Wesleyan's campus was the Alpha Rho cast of the national honorary dramatic fraternity. Under the leadership of President Alan Machenberg and the guidance of advisor Mrs. Betty Norvell, the group participated actively in plays staged by the dramatic organizations of the college.

During the year Alpha Psi Omega acted as co-sponsor of The Crucible and of the spring production. The organization was instrumental in preparing the campus for the productions given here by the Canadian National Players.

DELTA PSI KAPPA

Alpha Eta Chapter of Delta Psi Kappa was busy with monthly professional meetings, an intramural program, and a refreshment stand and checking service at basketball games. They sponsored a chapel service and are planning a spring retreat.

The local chapter of Beta Beta Beta, national honorary fraternity for majors and minors in biology, effected a program high in beneficial interest for students in the department. Illustrated lectures by faculty members, guest speakers who were experts in biological subjects, and field trips provided the biologists with first-hand information.

BENZENE RING

The Benzene Ring, the oldest honorary on Wesleyan's campus, has as its purpose "to create a greater interest in the science of chemistry." This organization offers to its members an affiliation with the American Chemical Society. Robert Eppley was this year's president and was aided in leading the group by faculty advisor Dr. Arthur Gould.

The crowning of the Camphor King at the Strawberry Breakfast in the spring was the outstanding activity of the year.

HAUGHT LITERARY SOCIETY

Haught Literary Society is an honorary, established to stimulate interest of girls in literary and fine arts and to provide an outlet for that interest. Membership in the honorary is limited to sixteen young women.

Each fall the group holds an initiation banquet. A picnic was held in the spring. A Sunday afternoon discussion for the whole campus was sponsored in the spring.

Elizabeth Weiglein was president of the honorary. Faculty advisor is Dr. Mary C. Brill.

KENNY AND THE CROWNS

Kenny and the Crowns, organized at Wesleyan in January, is a musical quartet, specializing in playing pop tunes. Record hops, a dance at McCuskey Hall and an impromptu jam session at "68" house appeared on the early schedule of the group. Plans for recording a song, "Gail," were on the agenda for the group. Kenny Walker, the lead guitarist and singer, wrote this tune. Other members of the quartet played the rhythm guitar, accordion and drum.

QUEENS' KINGS TRIO

A casual card game in a dorm room provided a unique name for a combo, now in its second year of existence on Wesleyan's campus. Members of the trio include Tony Barbetta, on the piano; Bob Fuller, on the drum; and Maurice Davis, on the bass. Engagements in Buckhannon, in Clarksburg, and in surrounding towns filled the group's schedule. Sorority dances, fraternity dances, and TGIF parties were included in the appearances of the trio. In February the combo played during the Best-Dressed Co-Ed Assembly.

RELIGIOUS LIFE EMPHASIS COMMITTEE

Plans for Christian Emphasis Week, February 20-25, were supervised by the Religious Life Emphasis Committee. Last spring members made arrangements for that week. Dr. James S. Thomas, a director of the Board of Education of The Methodist Church, was the guest speaker at the daily chapel services and the nightly buzz sessions. "Man's Modern Mind" was the subject of the inspiring lectures. Serving as chairman of this committee was Janice Cline. Dr. Kenneth Plummer advised the group.

OVERSEAS STUDENTS

Adding interest through a variety of national origins and former experiences, the overseas students enhanced the knowledge of the campus and community alike. Having come to Wesleyan to learn the ways of American college life as well as to become scholars in their respective fields, these students found themselves in great demand as speakers before local educational and civic groups to share knowledge of their native countries. These students, though possessing no formal group organization, formed a distinctive segment of the Wesleyan population. They were in many instances, however, so closely integrated with the rest of the campus, that the international boundaries were completely dissolved.

BETTY LAMP CLUB

The future homemakers, home demonstration agents, and home economics teachers formed the Betty Lamp Club. With activities alternating between the Home Ec Cottage and the department itself in the basement of the Administration Building, the members of the club began the year with a Freshman Tea. The Waffle Breakfast, held during Homecoming Weekend, was the traditional project sponsored by the members of the club. A Christmas charity project which occupied the girls in their spare time was the knitting of mittens for needy children. Jackie Wilson served the club as president and was aided by the advice of faculty member, Mrs. Margaret Walls.

SNEA

The Student National Education Association was established at Wesleyan to "elevate the character and advance the interest of the profession of teaching and to promote the cause of teaching in the United States." As a theme for this year the association used "Building a Better Teaching Profession." Leading the group as president is Marilyn Johnston.

In November the group held its annual Tea in honor of the retired teachers of Buckhannon. A Tea for the supervisors of the college's practice teachers will be held in April.

DEBATE SOCIETY

In its second year of existence on the campus of Wesleyan, the Debate Society represents the college in the area of persuasive speaking. Through the research on important world problems, the association with other students, and the experience of speaking, the debaters derive practical benefits.

The schedule of debates for this year included the Cross-Examination Debate in Pittsburgh, a Novice Debate in Pittsburgh, and a North-South Debate in Morgantown. The society plans a trip to Georgetown, Kentucky, for a debate tournament. Jackson's Mill is the location of this year's West Virginia tournament. Mr. William C. Seifrit, professor of speech, directs this group.

The Pre-Ministerial Fellowship is composed of students who are planning to go into the Christian ministry. Many of these students gain practical experience by serving as student pastors in local churches.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB

At Wesleyan the Sociology Club is interested in presenting the student with problems and opportunities in the field of sociology. Monthly dinner meetings are held at which time the members discuss papers to all areas of the field. Guidance of the club's activities is provided by President Bing Scherer, Dr. Florence Shaper and Dr. Henry Schissler, the two faculty advisors.

CANTERBURY CLUB

On Wesleyan's campus the Canterbury Club served to unite those students of Episcopalian preference. Under the leadership of president Gwen Dunbar and Father James Brennan the members discussed prominent political and religious trends.

Father Schriber of Morgantown presented a program on "Jazz and Folk Music" for the group this year. A lecture on "Art and Religion" was given by Professor Keester, the faculty advisor of the club. Last year a major activity was a week-end retreat to Sandcrest in Wheeling.

NEWMAN CLUB

To supplement the religious life of the Roman Catholic students on the campus spiritually, socially, and culturally, the Newman Club was initiated. Officers for this school year included: president, Ray Cecere; vice president, Bob Backode; secretary, Donna Thomas; treasurer, Bob White. The group met during the regular chapel period under the direction of Father James Murray from St. Joseph's Catholic church in Buckhannon.

METHODIST ORGANIZATIONS

In the field of religious activity, three of the organizations which prevail with a high degree of effectiveness are Kappa Phi, Sigma Theta Epsilon, and the Methodist Student Movement. Their endeavors range from Sunday morning campus services to sweetheart dinner dances and from Christmas Parties for underprivileged children to MYF Fellowship Teams.

Kappa Phi, one of the largest organizations on the campus, is a service fraternity for women of Methodist preference. To facilitate organization, the women were divided into seven circles. Activities of the year included service projects such as providing baby-sitters for faculty children, donating clothes to the "Magic Closet" clothes pool, supporting a Korean orphan through the Christian Childrens' Fund, and various other worthy projects.

STE, or Sigma Theta Epsilon, a service fraternity for men of Methodist preference, provided for its members an opportunity for service as well as fraternalism. A service project in the community provided for these future laity and clergy of the Methodist church an opportunity for the realization of their goals. A spring dinner-dance was held in collaboration with Kappa Phi at which time the sweetheart of STE was announced.

The Methodist Student Movement, an organization which offers a wide range of activities of importance to the campus, ranged in its scope from the Choraleers, a vocal group, to an organization for Young Married Couples, to the publication of its own newsletter, the Circuit Rider. Special programs were provided for the campus twice on Sunday and during the week by means of the Hour of Power and vespers.

WESLEY DRAMATEERS

The purpose of the Wesley Dramateers was to seek to bring religion alive through the medium of drama. During the fall the group presented two religious plays, "From Darkness to Light," and the "Cross on Hill 700." "Everyman" was presented as a college special.

PLAYSHOP

Students who are interested in working with campus dramatic productions are members of Playshop. Members are eligible for membership in Alpha Psi Omega. Playshop was co-sponsor of the fall dramatic production, "The Crucible."

PEP BAND

Emanating from the back corner of the gymnasium during basketball games could often be heard the brassy sounds of a German polka or the lively beat of a march. Often, the tune was "Here's to Old Wesleyan" which resulted in more noise than before as enthusiastic fans joined to sing with the Pep Band. The group functioned as a spirit-rousing combo at the campus sporting events.

RADIO STAFF

"This is your campus radio station, WVWC." These words became familiar ones to the members of the radio staff, for it was these tireless men, under the supervision of Mr. William Seifrit, who kept the campus station operating under its rigorous schedule.

After hours of 4:00 p. m. rehearsals the West Virginia Wesleyan band, under the direction of professor Owen L. In the election theme, the parties were represented in their usual forms of donkey and elephant with the contesting candidates delivering their respective speeches. In the Mexican theme, the bass horn became a bull, finally chasing his antagonist off the field.

The band represented the college well by marching in the Homecoming parade. The other concerts presented by the musicians won high acclaim over the campus and in all circles who heard their rendition.

THE COACHMEN

"Swee-ta-do-liiine," the familiar syllables of the male quartet, were not particularly symbols of the Coachmen, a new musical group on campus. The quartet specialized in popular music with only a small amount of barbershop harmony.

Their first campus appearance was in the fashion show in January for the benefit of the March of Dimes. The Coachmen performed for civic groups in Buckhannon, Elkins, and Weston.

On choir tours during the spring featured the quartet in high school and informal church programs. The novelty numbers such as "Standin' on the Corner" won the unanimous approval of audiences wherever they performed.

HYMA GLEE CLUB

The Hyma Glee Club assumed a more important position in the musical life of the campus during the year. The male vocalists performed at the all-campus Christmas party and joined the choir and Choraleers for the finale—Handel's Halle-lujah Chorus."

The glee club presented an all-school assembly program during the spring. Under the direction of Mr. Bobby Loftis, the singers provided an opportunity for the study and enjoyment of choral music without the necessity of musical training.

Majors and minors who are interested in music and music education were organized into the Music Educator's National Conference. Through the speeches heard and the discussions held, members of the organization were able to remain closer to the national developments in the field of music.

Programs for this year included a trip to Pittsburgh to hear an orchestra, and presentation of a talent show in March.

Margaret Wooddell was president of the conference and was assisted by Mr. Owen West as faculty advisor.

COLLEGIANS

Again this year the Collegians, one of Wesleyan's best-known organizations, adhered to a heavy schedule of playing performances. Late last year the Collegians presented an assembly program for the student body. In January they played at the March of Dimes Fashion Show. During the year the group provided music for dances on campus such as those of Kappa Sigma Kappa and Phi Sigma Epsilon. Local organizations also enlisted the performances of these musicians.

Leader of the Collegians for the year was Bill Ross, a trumpet player. Matt Hymes, a saxophone player, is the group's agent. Other Collegians include Ed Sepulveda and Ken Tonkinson on saxophone, Gary Penn, drums, Curt Downer, trombone, and Cathie Harris as pianist. Jim Taylor, a trumpet player, replaced Ken Alper, a January graduate.

BRASS ENSEMBLE

In its second year as an organization on Wesleyan's campus, the Brass Ensemble plays music primarily of the classical or contemporary type. All music used is written for six instruments.

Throughout the year the group played in recitals in the music department. The ensemble also provided entertainment at meetings of the College Club. Mr. Owen West serves as the faculty advisor for the group.

ORCHESTRA

The sound of the baton tapping on the conductor's stand is a familiar one to the members of the Wesleyan orchestra. Dr. C. Buell Agey, conductor of the orchestra and the man behind the baton, doubles as concertmaster during performances with the choir.

The orchestra accompanied the a cappella choir in their Founder's Day performance. The two music groups again collaborated for the performance of Bach's Christmas Oratorio. In the Christmas appearance, guest woodwind artists from West Virginia University supplemented the local talent to complete the orchestra.

Participation in the orchestra provides opportunity for the study and performance of serious orchestral literature. The members meet twice weekly and earn lower or upper level credit for participation.

One-half of the orchestra is observed in action while accompanying the choir in Bach's Christmas Oratorio.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR—WESLEYAN SINGING

Mrs. Irma Helen Collins, choir director, works out some difficult music with choir accompanist, Nancy Holmberg.

With at least three rehearsals and one chapel performance each week, in addition to special performances such as the Christmas oratorio and the spring tours, choir members and directors kept in good shape musically.

The first performance of significance was the Founder's Day appearance with the orchestra. In the latter part of October, choir and soloists began rehearsals for Bach's Christmas Oratorio. After weeks of practicing the difficult parts of the resounding choruses and chorales of the work, the Sunday afternoon of December 11 saw the successful performance of this difficult composition.

Soon after the beginning of the second semester, the choir received their special rehearsal schedule in preparation for the spring tours. Three weekends during late March and early April, the choir went on the road for tours to Pittsburgh, Charleston-Huntington and Parkersburg. Highlights of the Pittsburgh tour was the annual performances in Carnegie Music Hall in a program shared with Concert Hall organist Marshall Bidwell. In the Charleston area, the musicians displayed their talents before a large alumni rally.

The choir completed their rigorous year with the Baccalaureate recital and their final tribute to the seniors at graduation. The Wesleyan A Cappella choir thus became singing examples of the college.

"Let us even now go to Bethlehem" is the theme as the choir relates in music the story of the first Christmas.

The confusion of robes and collars is the usual scene preceding chapel each Tuesday.

The Panhellenic Council was established to create more harmonious relations among the three national sororities on Wesleyan's campus. A major project of the group is the supervision of rules and programs for rushing. Events which the council directly supervises include the Interfraternity-Panhellenic Dance, the Panhellenic teas, and the Panhellenic workshop.

Officers rotate each year from sorority to sorority. This year's officers include: President, Nanci Halsall, Alpha Xi Delta; Vice President, Ellen Gird, Alpha Gamma Delta; Secretary, Mary Beth Albert, Alpha Delta Pi; Miss Janie Davis is the new faculty advisor. Wesleyan's council is a member of the National Panhellenic Council.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council was established on Wesleyan's campus to organize the fraternities into one united group. It serves as a governing council to settle problems and disputes among the five national fraternities represented. Each of the five fraternities elect two representatives to bring its problems before the council.

Charles Kohler serves as President, aided by Dean Richard Cunningham.

Greek Week held the week of March 18, was the newest project to be sponsored by the I.F.C. Plans for this event included a special speaker at chapel, a special assembly, a pledge project and games. The annual Panhellenic-Interfraternity Dance also was held that week, highlighted by the crowning of a Greek Queen.

Since the establishment of the Gamma Kappa chapter of Alpha Delta Pi in 1948, the group has increased in number until it is the largest sorority on campus. This year began for the sisters when Wesleyantics, 1960, saw them receive second prize for their skit "A Day in the Life of a College Co-Ed."

The social calendar for the ADPIs began with a cook-out that turned out to be a "cook-in" at E.U.B. Lake. Rain failed to spoil the activity or the succeeding ones, however. Other activities of the year included a banquet for the alumni and patronesses, a pledge dance, and the founder's day tea. Culminating the social calendar was the Old South Weekend in the spring, highlighted by the formal dance, Adelpian Manor.

As the oldest sorority on campus, Beta Sigma Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta was founded in 1947. Their animated Shaggy Dog was judged the first place float in the annual Homecoming parade. Various sorority events of this year included a planning retreat, pledge dance, Christmas project, slumber party, and winter formal. The traditional Rose Formal held in May highlighted the spring social calendar.

Ruth Hopping, attended by her sisters, Nadine Schaffer, senior attendant, and Phyllis Keene, junior attendant, reigned as queen over May Day, 1960. Wesleyan Homecoming found Ginger Power, senior attendant, and Ginny Griffin, junior attendant, in the court.

In 1933 the Beta Nu Chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi became one of the fraternity groups at Wesleyan. At Homecoming, the Alpha Sigs' stars ranged from Confucius, on their float, to Al Capone in their Wesleyantics skit. Christmas, 1960, saw this group create the campus-winning house decorations. This year's social activities included numerous house parties, a hayride, and the annual Playboy Party. At this year's Playboy Party, Miss Lynne Watkins was chosen Playmate of the year.

At the Sweetheart Dance in April, Miss Martha Whitcomb was honored as the fraternity sweetheart. The brothers of Alpha Sigma Phi were active in Greek intramurals on campus.

In 1950 the Delta Gamma Chapter of Theta Chi came to Wesleyan's campus. Homecoming Week-end, 1960, was a successful one for the Theta Chis in that their "Living Statuettes" captured the Wesleyantics' first prize trophy. Another Homecoming trophy was awarded to the group for their second-place float. Crowding the fraternity social calendar were such events as a scavenger hunt, a Roman house party and a Halloween Party. The Chapter's tenth anniversary weekend, held in December, was highlighted by a banquet and anniversary dance. At this formal dance it was announced that Miss Mary Jo Herndon had been selected the new "Dream Girl of Theta Chi."

Beta Chi Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order was chartered on Wesleyan's campus in 1929, being the oldest national fraternity on campus. At the annual Sweetheart Dance, Miss Judy Bauserman was chosen as sweetheart for the coming year. Throughout the year the Order sponsored many house parties and other functions. The year's social activities are climaxed with Old South Weekend, which includes a picnic, a parade, two secessions, and the annual Dixie Ball.

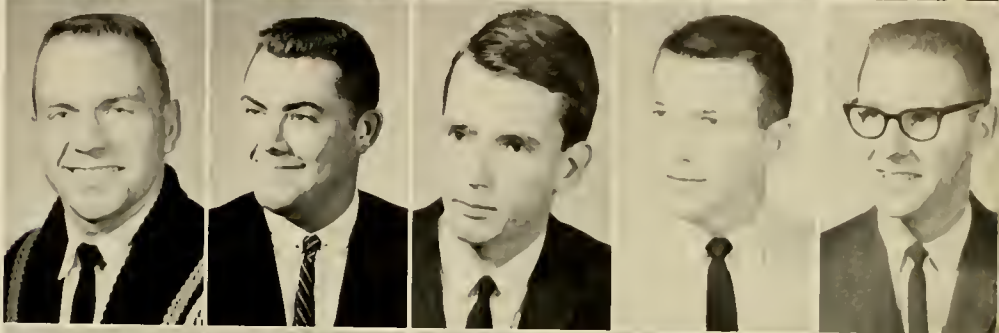

During the past summer, the chapter house at 66 South Kanawha Street was given a new coat of paint.

87 South Kanawha Street is the location of the West Virginia Eta Chapter of Kappa Sigma Kappa. The local chapter was established in 1955 and moved into its present large brick house in the fall of 1959.

Jackson's Mill, State 4-H Camp at Weston, was the site of a workshop opening the year's activities. The social calendar was centered around the Spring Formal, the Iris Ball. On this occasion, Miss Carolyn Mullen was selected fraternity sweetheart. Other social events include pledge dances, house parties, the "Kappa Kabanna" Dance and impromptu snow parties.

The chapter triumphed in winning the Greek division of the 1960 May Day Sing and second place in the 1960 Homecoming House Decorations.

The local chapter was represented at the 1960 national convention in Detroit by a delegation of six brothers. Further participation in national and province affairs was evidenced in the Fall Conclave of the Southeastern Province when West Virginia Eta was asked to provide Dean Richard Cunningham as guest resource leader.

Phi Kappa Chapter of Phi Sigma Epsilon, the youngest national fraternity here, was established at Wesleyan in May, 1959. The crowded social calendar of the group for this year included several house parties, a Sigh of Relief party, a pledge dance and a Sweetheart Dance. Teas to honor each of the three sororities were held by the brothers. Miss Georgeanna Bradfield was the Sweetheart of the fraternity.

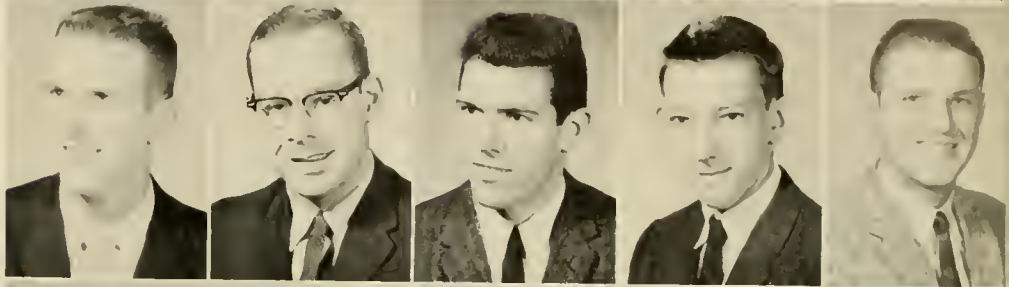

A Festival Week-end in May was held to celebrate the anniversary of the group. Again, the chapter won the fraternity scholarship trophy, excelling in scholastic achievement. The Phi Sigs moved into a completely re-done house located at 102 East Main Street. After a few long weeks of living without much furniture and working hard, the brothers were rewarded with a fine looking fraternity house.

The football team finished another successful season under the coaching of Sam Ross as they fought to a 6 and 2 record.

The first two games of the season were complete disasters as the Bobcats fell before Marietta, 22-12, and Fairmont, 33-0. Jim Hawkins and Bill Wood scored the first points of the season in the Marietta game, but no Bobcat was able to cross the goal in the Fairmont contest. Severe lime burns sidelined many of the players after the Marietta game.

An open date saved the team from having to play with ten team members unavailable. However, the Rossmen were unable to stop the Falcons who raced through, around, and over the defense to five touchdowns. The only Wesleyan threat in the game came when they drove to the one-yard line. A fumble erased this lone drive.

The first home game of the season saw the Rossmen pitted against the Salem Tigers. Sam Gross's lone PAT of the season was the deciding factor as the 'Cats squeaked out a 13-12 win. Bill Wood scored both of the Wesleyan Touchdowns. The first came on a 74-yard run from scrimmage on the second play of the game.

The big test of the season came when the giants of the gridiron bopped undefeated Glenville in an away game, 12-6. Dan Pearce opened the game with a 93-yard kick-off return. Glenville tied it up until substitute fullback Harvey Casey broke away for a 44-yard touchdown play. Sam Gross stopped three Glenville drives with pass interceptions.

Bill Wood races for a decisive touchdown against Salem.

The Bobcats were fired-up for the Homecoming game and scored three touchdowns in the first half against the favored West Liberty Hilltoppers. Steve Kapostas sneaked over the goal line for the first TD. Jim Hawkins crawled over the line for the second score of the game. Bill Wood then scored on a two-yard plunge to give the Rossmen their third tally. No further scoring was done until West Liberty crashed through for their lone touchdown in the late minutes of the game.

Wesleyan traveled to sunny Bridgewater for their sixth game of the season and gained their greatest victory margin, 35-0. First to score for the Bobcats was Dan Pearce, followed by Bill Wood, Jim Hawkins, Steve Kapostas, and senior co-captain, Ron Covington. The Bridgewater eleven gained only 89 yards rushing in the lop-sided contest.

The next game saw the Bobcats slop to victory over rival Davis and Elkins, 20-0. A heavy rain beat upon the players who plowed through inches of mud to the goal line three times. Scoring for the Bobcats were Bill Wood and Steve Kapostas. Wood made two touchdowns in the game. Davis and Elkins never threatened the Wesleyan goal.

The Wesleyan Bobcats closed the season by smashing the Bethany Bisons, 39-12. Jim Hawkins and Bill Wood scored twice each for the favorites with touchdowns also coming from Casey, and Penwell. Bethany was unable to tally until the last quarter when they twice crossed the goal line.

Bill Wood pulls in a pass from the Wesleyan quarterback and spins in for a touchdown against Bethany.

Dan Pearce picks up yardage on a hand-off from Sam Gross and good blocking from the powerful Wesleyan line in the West Liberty game.

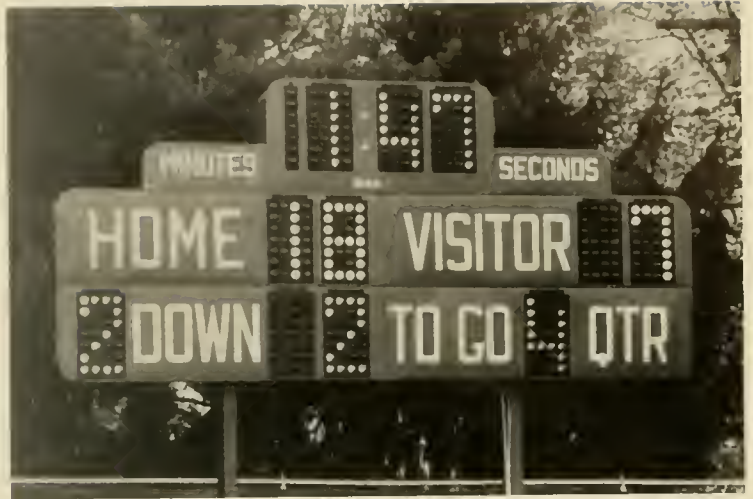

Jim Hawkins is stopped short of a touchdown by the Bethany line in the last game of the season.

Bill Wood crosses the goal line for six, on a handoff from Sam Gross early in the Homecoming contest with West Liberty.

The new scoreboard shows a decisive Wesleyan victory over West Liberty in the Homecoming tilt.

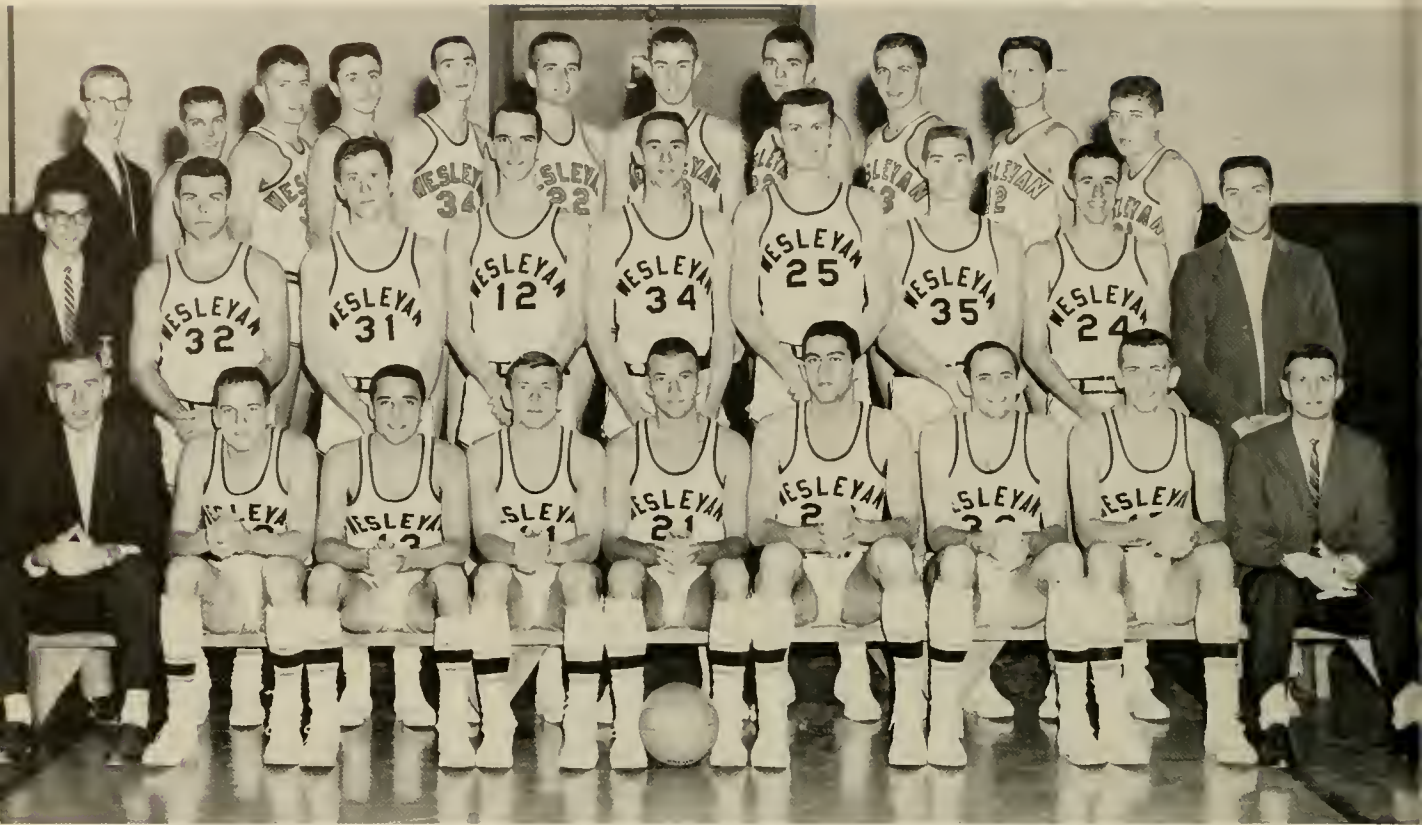

Bill Wood finished his sophomore year with an added 707 yards rushing and 194 yards in pass-receiving as he paced the Bobcat backfield for the second consecutive year. Steve Kapostas was also outstanding as a blocking back.

The offensive line was strong from end to end with Gene Rall, George Lohman, Kent Carpenter, Ted Waroblak, Glen Beeson, Tom Hinkle, and Boyd Dotson outstanding. The defensive squad, paced by co-captains Sam Gross and Ron Covington, were strengthened by Bob White, John Shomo, and Slats Laramore.

Gene Rall makes good a point after touchdown attempt as Steve Kapostas holds in the Bethany game.

Head Basketball Coach, Hank Ellis, who lost five players by graduation, began a rebuilding program of a team that had no returning regulars and only one senior, Sam Gross. Ellis predicted early in the season that he would be lucky if he had a winning season. The boys proved him happily wrong as they piled up a record of 14 wins and 9 losses, grabbed runner-up honors in the pre-season tournament at Weston, rushed to third place in regular season play, and built up a winning streak at one time of five victories over such powerhouses as Morris Harvey, West Liberty, and Steubenville colleges.

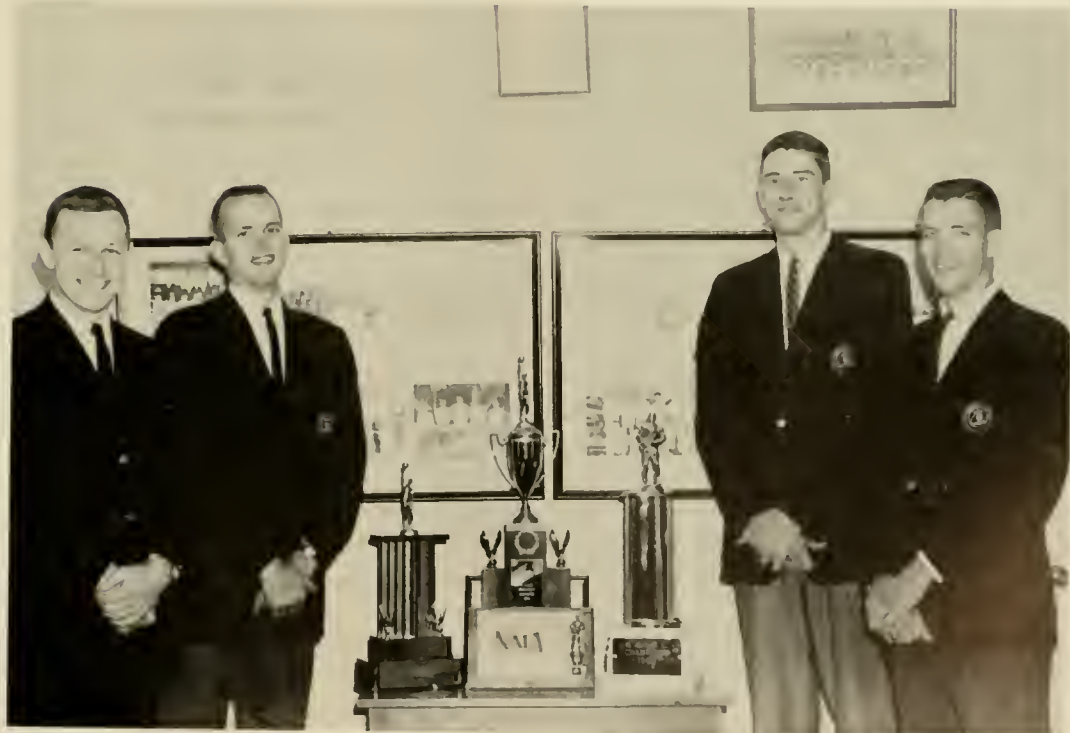

The Ellismen opened the season with an 80-78 victory over the troublesome Alderson-Broadus Battlers at Weston in the pre-season tourney. The 'cats dropped the championship game to the Glenville Pioneers 82-66 for runner-up honors.

The day the regular season opened it was discovered that letterman Gerry Urish was ineligible by conference rules and would be benched until the second half of the season. The rallying Bobcats downed highly-rated Marietta and Fairmont and lost to Glenville to give them a regular season record of 2-1 for the Christmas holidays.

The Charleston trip for the Morris Harvey and Tech games helped Ellis find the man he needed to win the conference, Don Jimison, a freshman from Cadiz, Ohio. By a stroke of luck, Ellis started Jimison against Morris Harvey and the 'cats were on their way. With Jimison's rebounding and scoring strength, the Wesleyan quintet won the next three including two victories over the strong Golden Eagles of Sonny Moran. But the end of the semester saw Jimison ineligible and the Bobcats missed their first string forward.

Gerry Urish drives in for a layup shot.

The Bobcats owed their success of a winning season to several players. Bill Rine led the Battlin' Bobcats in scoring for the season and hit for 15 points or more in thirteen of the games. Bill Grimes ranked high in rebounds, points per game, and percentages to earn the status of number two man on the team.

Sam Gross proved his strength defensively and as a team leader. Marlo Mills stepped into the rebounding department, where All-American Ken Remley stepped out, and ended up second in the conference as a rebounder. The playing of Don Jimison the first semester and Gerry Urish the second semester added up to extra Bobcat strength. Boyd Dotson shook off his football equipment to give the 'cats added rebounding strength when Hank Ellis called upon him late in the season. Gary Dawson was sent in from time to time and did a fine job of rallying the team.

Lunberg of Bethany pulled ahead of Nye in the three Bethany meets but Nye had little difficulty with other college pacers.

The West Virginia Wesleyan baseball team suffered nine losses against five wins but finished what they called a successful season. The reason was that two of the victories were over highly rated West Virginia University of the Southern Conference.

The Bobcats were sparked by the batting and fielding of first baseman Buck Leppla, and shortstop Pete Nye. Both men ranked high on the NAIA batting listings. The biggest victory, runwise, was a 22 to 4 swamping of the Davis and Elkins Senators. The game was highlighted by home runs off the bats of Buck Leppla and Scott Kennedy.

The cindermen of Wesleyan, under the outstanding coaching of Sam Ross, won their fifth state championship in six years. The Bobcats opened the season by finishing second behind West Virginia State and ahead of Bluefield State in the West Virginia State Invitational Track Meet at Charleston, West Virginia. The Rossmen, however, fared better at home where they won two meets. In the first meet they smashed West Liberty, and in a triangular home meet the Bobcats were victorious over Davis & Elkins and Concord.

The cindermen were the underdogs at the state meet held at Bethany College with West Virginia State expected to steal the trophy. A slow rain, turning to snow, and sub-zero temperatures resulted in a slow track. The Bobcats qualified in all but one of the trials and went on to overtake the favorites. A shout of joy went up from the huddled participants as Bill Smith galloped across the field with the WVIAC championship in hand. Smith was largely responsible for the trophy as he collected 22½ points in the meet.

EDUCATIONAL ENVIRONMENTS

Classes and situations of normally academic nature sometimes have odd quirks which separate them from the realm of the ordinary at Wesleyan. A week of studies was almost totally disrupted, at least in the dormitories, while the Bucs "battled it out" with the Yankees. The campus, as the nation, was divided into two opposing camps—those rooting for New York and those in favor of Pittsburgh. The Wesleyan campus was predominantly in support of the victorious Pirates.

The tree-covered campus and the SCOW were unusual places for classes to meet but the warm fall weather drew students and professors alike out-of-doors. SCOW waitresses were a little more than surprised one day when a freshman English class trooped in to listen to a special literary reading on the juke box while sipping hot coffee. These were the Richardsons and the Fieldings of Wesleyan's coffee house.

The small, irregular hole in the ceiling of the gym was not made by an over-active trampoline artist. An escaped golf club ended its travels with its head in the clouds of the Wesleyan gymnasium as a result of the efforts of one of the members of the individual sports class.

Members of the individual sports class play golf in the new floor-to-ceiling style.

LEARNING VARIES

Right: The kindergarten scholars keep their teachers busy.

Academic life at Wesleyan ranged from kindergartens to cats to conversational French. The kindergarten obviously had a large and lively clientele. Teachers and observers were provided from the Wesleyan department of education, which sponsored the school in the old Brake house on Camden Avenue. The kindergarten, under the direction of Miss Helen Stealey, was a new addition to the curriculum of the future teachers of the campus.

"Stray cats beware" was the warning issuing from the comparative anatomy laboratory. Actually, the cats were prepared specimens from a lab supply house. Their innards became part of the daily lives of those dissecting them, even to the point that coffee and cokes were drunk while studying dissected cats.

When Dr. George Rossbach was not supervising cats and their cutters, he and his wife were learning conversational French along with a number of other faculty members, students, and local adults. The class was under the direction of Wesleyan's native français, Gerard de Villeroche. So, la vie academique était très variée a Wesleyan.

Preparation and excellence—two of the most important objectives in the lives of college students—were evidenced in a number of ways. The awards assembly in the spring was a time of recognition for jobs well done.

A common announcement for seniors on the Quick Check System was that personnel directors would be available for consultation at various times. Student teachers had on-the-job practice and experience in preparing for careers as educators.

MAY WEEKEND WELCOMES THE VERDANT AWAKENING OF SPRING

May 6 and 7 found Wesleyan students singing and dancing during the traditional outstanding spring weekend. Queen Ruth Hopping was crowned in the gymnasium to open the annual May Sing. Attending the queen were Nadine Schaffer, senior; Phyllis Keene, junior; Carolyn Moore, sophomore; and Mary Alice Vest, freshman. Stan MacGregor, master of ceremonies, presented the 1st place trophy for Greeks to Kappa Sigma Kappa. Jenkins Hall was awarded the 1st place trophy for Independents. Medal awards for directing were given to Al Moye of Kappa Sigma Kappa, and Noveda Hinkle of Alpha Xi Delta. After the sing a reception was held in honor of the royalty.

On Saturday the annual barbecue luncheon was re-located in the gym due to late April showers. The Dots Trio presented an afternoon jazz concert to keep the weekend swinging. "Dance Primtemps" held at the National Guard Armory climaxed the day's activities with music by the Lee Kelton Orchestra and featuring the Ink Spots, who arrived late and started the show with "Them There Eyes." Concluding May Weekend, a concert was presented by the Wesleyan Band under the direction of Owen West.

GRADUATION – FINAL GOAL

As the organ began the strains of the traditional graduation processional; as the choir assumed their positions; as mortarboards and tassels were straightened for the final time; the class of 1960 prepared for their last march into Atkinson Chapel. This was the day which had been the final cause of four years of hard work combined with numerous worries and pleasures. This was the beginning of the mythical "good life."

For many of the seniors graduation from Wesleyan was the real beginning of the "good life." For others, it was merely another step in the furtherance of the acquiring of higher education. For everyone in the procession, faculty, administration, and students alike, Graduation 1960 marked the passing of another "generation" from Wesleyan.

After faculty and seniors assumed their places in the front rows of the Chapel, Dr. Paul G. Benedum, member of the

As Dean Orlo Strunk called the names of the successful degree candidates and they filed across the stage, pride of parents coupled with the satisfaction of faculty at the completed product were among the expressions of the observers.

The recession ended the service and the new additions to the ranks of Wesleyan alumni were greeted by faculty, parents, and classmates. "Congratulations" and "best of luck" were the common wishes of the departing seniors—the class of 1960.

FALL'S GOLDEN TOUCH HIGHLIGHTS HOMECOMING

Keester caters to art or hats?

Wesleyan's traditional homecoming Weekend began with Wesleyantics on Friday night, October 21, with the master of ceremonies, Mr. Keester, changing hats. Barbara Hall, accompanied by her four attendants captured the first spotlight to begin the program. A unique skit, "Statuettes in Silver," won first prize for Theta Chi Fraternity, while Alpha Delta Pi placed second. Parade-time Saturday found the products of the month-long float building efforts lined up for a colorful display. Alpha Xi Delta's "Shaggy Dog" came barking home with the top trophy. First place in house decorations was awarded to 68 House with its "Let's Multiply Our Victories" slogan. Kappa Sigma Kappa won second honors with their man behind the eight ball.

Saturday morning activities commenced with the crowning of Queen Barbara Hall and procession of the attendants: Virginia Power, senior attendant; Virginia Griffin, junior attendant; Patricia Sutton, sophomore attendant; Ann Royse, freshman attendant. Following the parade, Saga Food Service provided the annual barbeque luncheon with the usual hot dogs and baked beans. Then came the Big Game and an 18-7 victory for the Bobcats over West Liberty.

Culminating the weekend was the annual Homecoming Dance with the McCoy Brothers furnishing the music and the intermission presentation of Homecoming trophies.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT PERVADES THE CAMPUS

Carolers pause in front of the Administration Building to serenade the Murmurmontis photographer.

"Christians! Be joyful!", the theme of the opening chorus from Bach's Christmas Oratorio, ushered in the activities of the final week before Christmas vacation—a week crowded with snowball fights, parties, and Santa Claus. Campus Christmas festivities alternated with the charity of several organizations of the college to make the holiday season more enjoyable for some who were less fortunate.

The Kris Kringle Kraft Klub, a subsidiary of the Methodist Student Movement, spent many hours preparing toys and entertainment for a party honoring needy children of the community. The small guests were particularly thrilled when a live reindeer impersonating Rudolph appeared as special entertainment.

To relieve some of the tension of numerous term papers and exams, a bit of excitement was organized in the form of panty raids on the women's dorms during the final week before vacation. Women as well as men shared in the enthusiasm with only a few flimsy articles being confiscated during the invasion.

The last big activity of the week was the all-campus party in the gym. Santa Claus, traditional Christmas music by the campus choral groups, and readings by Dr. Brill and Mr. James I. Ling completed the evening's entertainment. Thus ended the final week of classes of 1960.

Representatives of the box-seat crowd are the late arrivals.

November 9, 1960, at 8:15 p. m. the curtain went up on another first at Wesleyan, A Night at the Opera. Complete with opera box, late arrivals, and period costumes, this production by the music department reflected both talent and originality on the part of all involved.

Opera Night, directed by Mrs. Irma Hopkins Collins, featured music by Bizet, Donizetti, Flotow, Gounod, Leoncavallo, Mozart and Puccini with libretto by Mendelssohn, Newman, and Simon. The final number was the Sextet from Lucia Di Lammermoor by Donizetti, the melody of which is that used in Wesleyan's Alma Mater.

Performers in Opera Night were Jack Staton, Nancy Davis, Dick Yates, Martha Gallagher, Jack Haney, Lynn Westfall, Carol Boyer, and Charles Dent.

Wesleyan students had even greater opportunities than ever before to absorb culture through such programs as Saint Joan and Julius Caesar presented by the Canadian Players, and the chapel address presented by the noted philosopher, D. Elton Trueblood.

In addition to these cultural enrichment programs, Buckhannon churches provided an opportunity for students to think and to organize their values into a meaningful philosophical whole—all part of the cultural objective of the school.

DORMITORIES—WESLEYAN LIVES

The lives of the inhabitants of the dormitories at Wesleyan became experiences in which study, fun, and toleration were important parts of the every-day routine.

Men received special showers as part of the ritual of going steady or getting pinned, while coffee breaks and missing furniture became the means of relieving the tension of college life.

Alpha Psi Omega, in cooperation with playshop, presented Arthur Miller's play, "The Crucible," on December 9, 1960. Under the direction of Mrs. Betty Norvell and Nancy Halsall, Wesleyan students were given a dramatic glimpse into old Salem, Massachusetts, and the historic witch trials.

A passionate young girl of Salem, Abigail Putnam, hit upon the plan of securing her married lover, John Proctor, to herself by accusing his wife of the mortal sin of witchery, thus eliminating her. Abigail's fiendish plot erupted and most of the town's citizens, including her lover, were accused of "conniving with the devil." John Proctor died a martyr, as did a tragic era in American history.

Arthur Miller wrote "The Crucible" as a criticism of the McCarthy method of investigation, as demonstrated in the McCarthy hearings of the early 1950's.

RELIEF FROM STUDIES

Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we have a test. The test may have been a term paper, or merely a routine assignment but often other activities forced studies into the background.

Rehearsals, decorating for dances, or just merely eating the regular two or three meals each day, were matters of life or death when they became a reprieve from studies.

WESLEYAN SPEAKS

With broadcasting facilities in the SCOW, radio station WVWC provided the campus with up-to-the-minute news and a variety of good music.

One of the most important additions to the communicative arts at Wesleyan was its campus radio station—WVWC. Other means of communicating through speech included Miss Schnabel's story-telling ability at the Christmas party for under-privileged children. The spring dramatic production, Moliere's Imaginary Invalid, gave students of speech and dramatics an opportunity to express their talents.

Dear Jane Roemanyler:

My thanks to you, the members of your staff and the student body of West Virginia Wesleyan for paying me the honor of serving as Judge for the 1961 Queen Contest.

Congratulations are in order to your school also, for having so many unusually attractive candidates, from whom to make the final selection.

After long deliberation, I have finally selected "Judy" as my personal choice to wear the crown. And may I add, she is most worthy of the title.

Please convey my congratulations to the winner and my very best wishes to all of the lovely runners-up.

Most sincerely,

Mary Jo Herndon was selected as Wesleyan's nominee for the annual "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America" contest sponsored by Glamour magazine. The local competition was sponsored by the Pharos in a program on the Atkinson stage at which time the "sweet sixteen" candidates modeled their three favorite outfits.

The nominees were chosen by the three social sororities and the independent women on the basis of figure, posture, grooming, taste, imagination and individuality in clothing as well as completeness of wardrobes.

SCOW-ACTIVE CENTER

The student center, better known as the SCOW, was one of the busiest centers of activity on the campus. The snack bar was the most popular place to kill a few spare minutes or some that were not so spare. Activities such as ping-pong, television, and bridge were all part of SCOW life. At the beginning of each semester the college book store was one of the most frequented parts of the student center.

The SCOW also housed the offices for the student publications, offices for the SCOW committee and director, and, for the first time, the broadcasting studios for the campus radio station.

WINTER AT WESLEYAN

Mid-winter found Wesleyan struggling through numerous activities as well as several inches of snow which, in turn, added to the activities.

The four-year fight between supporters of the elephant and those of the donkey ended with students gathering around every available television set on the campus to witness the final night's tallying of the results.

The big snows which added to the winter spirit during most of December and January provided the proper setting for spontaneous caroling parties and campus snowball fights. The major indoor winter sport, basketball, was the main attraction as Wesleyan students cheered their floor squad to a good conference record.

One of the important weeks for the fraternity men of the campus was the final week of freshman rushing. The round of parties, the publishing of new rushing brochures, and the new acquaintances all became important to those men involved.

The Phi Sigs give the typical fraternity propaganda to a prospective pledge.

The annual spring production, The Madwoman of Chaillot by Jean Giraudoux, was presented on April 29, 1960, in Atkinson Chapel, in cooperation with Alpha Psi Omega and Playshop.

The play is about four fantastic, but charming madwomen in Paris who wage war against the power struggle of materialistic philosophies. Giraudoux wrote his play during the war as a resistance movement against Fascism. His message to the world was that the open heart had returned instead of the closed fist!
